We're excited to announce that the call for papers for the CSAE Conference 2022 is now open! This year, we're taking the conference online again for a fully virtual event.

We invite papers relevant for issues of development economics in Africa. (We're very happy to consider papers discussing countries other than those in Africa, if those papers deal with issues central to development economics in Africa.)

We ask that you select one of the following broad topics to help the refereeing process:

- Agriculture
- Firms
- Fiscal and Monetary Policy
- Health and Education
- Households, Inequality, and Poverty
- Labour
- Macro Productivity
- Natural Resources and the Environment
- Political Economy
- Trade
